Hydrol. Earth Syst. Sci. Discuss., 11, C1443–C1443, 2014
www.hydrol-earth-syst-sci-discuss.net/11/C1443/2014/© Author(s) 2014. This work is distributed under the Creative Commons Attribute 3.0 License.

Hydrology and Earth System Sciences
Open Access
Discussions

Interactive comment on "Modelling of snow processes in catchment hydrology by means of downscaled WRF meteorological data fields" by K. Förster et al.

B. Schaefli (Editor)

bettina.schaefli@epfl.ch

Received and published: 15 May 2014

I think that the authors have a very good point when they write in their response that "using observed precipitation in combination with downscaled data could be seen as an alternative for regions where e.g. only a few precipitation observations are available and all other meteorological data are missing." This is indeed a very common situation in alpine areas where there are much more rain gauges then complete meteo stations

Interactive comment on Hydrol. Earth Syst. Sci. Discuss., 11, 4063, 2014.