I want to note the positive and relevant points of the article. At first, there are physical, chemical and microbiological parameters of rainwater are presented i.e. an integrated approach is used to evaluate of rainwater. It’s very important. It is of practical interest in the reseach of rainwater quality in the context of different roofing: concrete roof tiles, ceramic roof tiles, zinc coated metal sheets and epoxy coated.